Possibility of Strike Action Update

Dear Parents/Carers,

I write to you again today with an important update regarding national strike action, that may affect Longmeadow Primary School tomorrow, Wednesday 1st February 2023.

We have been working closely with union representatives, to keep up to date with the situation and see if we will be able to avoid closure.

We have taken the precautionary measure of closing the nursery provision for tomorrow (Wednesday 1st February 2023) for one day as children are below the statutory age for education.

We still have a number of staff who have not disclosed, some are undecided and may change their decision on Wednesday 1st February 2023 which may impact classes tomorrow especially in lower KS2.

I will inform you of the final arrangements as soon as an accurate picture has been ascertained – but this will, sadly, not be until tomorrow morning.

I am so sorry about the disruption to you and to your child's education. I understand that this situation may be incredibly frustrating and ask that all members of our fantastic school community continue to treat each other with care and respect at this incredibly difficult time.

Longmeadow remains fully committed to providing a safe and secure environment for our pupils and in delivering high-quality teaching/learning.

If you have any questions, please do contact the school office.

Thank you for your understanding, we will endeavour to contact you all at the earliest possible time tomorrow morning.

Kind regards,

Mr T Mills-Bishop
